Cookies used on the Website

Cookies are small strings of text sent by a web server to a web browser - such as www.femi.it and are stored by the browser. Cookies are memorized and then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.

Cookies can be used by web servers for different and important purposes such as to identify and track users as they navigate different pages on a website, memorize specific information on user's setting, etc..

While surfing on a website, user can receive on his/her browser also cookies which are sent by different websites or web servers (the so called "third parties cookies"). On these websites and web servers of third parties there might be some elements (such as images, sounds, specific links to other pages) which are located in the website that user is surfing on: such cookies are provided directly from third party website providers and are used with means and for the purposes defined by those third parties.

The Website uses the following types of cookies:

- Technical cookies: these are the ones used only for granting the functionality of the communication on web server and are usually installed by the Website owner or manager. They are functional for the performance of the Website.
- Analytic cookies, coming also from third parties, which are not tracking cookies: these are the ones that are used for collecting information of statistic nature (such as the number of users). They are used by adopting means which are able to reduce the power of identification of such cookies (such as, for example, through the anonymization of significant portion of IP addresses).

User can disable cookies installed by the Company on his/her computer or device following the procedure outlined below. Disabling cookies might cause errors on functionality of the Website or surfing slow down.

Disabling procedure may vary depending on the browser used.
